House Snoopers Prepare To Sit Tight For While

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee, Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.) said today, is going to "sit tight for a while" on several score proposals for congressional investigations.

"These investigations usually are distracting and we don't plan to get into them until we have finished some legislating," Allen said in an interview.

Quizzes Kept Alive

"For the time being, the regular committees are equipped to handle the major investigations that should be made, and we will give them the power to do that."

Allen said his committee will meet next week to clear the way for investigations planned by regular committees or subcommittees, such as a judiciary committee probe of the Justice Department and a ways and means committee inquiry into the Internal Revenue Bureau. Both these investigations were launched in the last Congress and Republicans, who made much of their findings during the 1952 campaign, plan to keep them alive.

The ways and means subcommittee investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau recessed indefinitely yesterday, awaiting clearance of its request for power to subpoena witnesses.

Wide Range Covered

As of today, 62 resolutions proposing investigations or creation of special study committees have been introduced in the House and referred to the rules committee. Many of them are duplicates, proposing the same kind of probes. None can come to the House floor unless cleared by the rules committee.

The proposed investigations cover a wide range of subjects—from problems of the old folks to indecent literature and objectionable radio-tv programs.

Chicago Woman Lives On Trolley

CHICAGO (AP) — There's no place like home—if it's a Chicago streetcar—for a 73-year-old woman who says she's been using trolleys as sleeping quarters for seven years.

Mrs. Anna Cox said she solved her housing problem—and saved money—by taking her night's lodging in street cars.

"They're a far sight better than the average room here," Mrs. Cox said yesterday. "A trolley's got a rooming house beat a mile for comfort—and it's cheaper."

Mrs. Cox, who will be 74 on Friday, is in Cook County Hospital recovering from a broken leg suffered in a traffic accident Jan. 16. She disclosed she had no living quarters other than street cars when officials sought her address preparatory to releasing her.

Mrs. Cox said she is planning to go back to her rolling home after her release. She quit living in hotels, she said, because she found them unclean, cold and dangerous.

Her night's lodging in street cars—three round trips on a 21-mile route—costs her $1.02 for six tokens. A round trip takes nearly four hours.

Canada Helps Build Up Mexican Ports To Spur Pacific Trade

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Informed sources said today that Canada will help develop four of Mexico's Pacific ports in order to boost trade between the two nations.

The ports are Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Acapulco and Salina Cruz.

Included in the planned projects which result from the visit here of a Canadian good will mission will be dredging of some ports and construction of silos and warehouses in others.

Canadian capital will augment Mexican financing.

Canadian wheat, machinery and other products will be shipped direct to the newly modernized ports, and in return Mexico hopes to sell Canada more of its own products.

Mystery Of Night Organ Music Solved

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The organ music that has rent the night near the First Church of Christ Scientist is no longer a mystery.

James Robert Kearney, 33, and George Picciotto, 22, told Judge C. C. Cravath they had been breaking into the church from time to time and playing the organ because they like organ music.

It'll be 20 days in jail for the pair for vagrancy and malicious mischief. Judge Cravath decreed yesterday.

Flint Man Kills Wife With Auto; Gets 15-20 Years

FLINT (AP) — Thomas A. Davis, 27, was sentenced Tuesday to 15 to 20 years in prison after being convicted of deliberately killing his wife by running his car against her.

Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth told Davis in sentencing him: "You have a penchant for violence that is uncivilized, savage and criminal."

A jury convicted Davis of second degree murder in the death of his wife, Ramona Juanita, 20, the night of last Aug. 9. Mrs. Davis, mother of a baby girl, suffered fatal injuries when a car driven by Davis crushed her against a house porch.

Davis claimed it was accidental, but police produced a map to support the state's charge that Davis purposely drove his car against his wife.

Peninsula May Lose Seats In House Shuffle

LANSING (AP) — The full House Apportionment Committee set a meeting today (1 p.m.) to begin the study of eight proposals for reapportioning seats in the House of Representatives.

Under the reapportionment amendment (No. 3) to the constitution passed last fall, the Legislature has 180 days in which to complete the job. If it fails, the State Board of Canvassers is required to do it.

Seven of the current plans were submitted by Elwood Sneeringer, a governmental expert with the Citizens Research Council of Detroit.

Five of the research council plans would reduce the Upper Peninsula from eight to six Representatives, while the two other plans would give the Upper Peninsula seven Representatives on condition that either Cheboygan or Emmet counties in the northern Lower Peninsula be added to one of the Upper Peninsula districts.

The eighth plan, submitted by Rep. Carl G. Lindquist (R-Iron River), concerned only the Upper Peninsula and would split it into seven instead of eight representative districts.

Otherwise, the research council plans concerned themselves with reshuffling northern Lower Peninsula districts to eliminate by consolidations six districts which have fallen below the minimum population requirements to qualify for a representative.

Panama Detains Red Smugglers

PANAMA, Panama (AP) — The Ministry of Finance studied charges of customs evasion today against three recent returnees from behind the Iron Curtain. They were accused of trying to smuggle in Communist propaganda films.

The four rolls of film turned up in a package labelled crystalware and sent from Switzerland by Cleto Sousa, brother of the local Communist party's secretary, to National Assembly Deputy Hornero Velasquez.

Because he had had no previous dealings with Sousa, Velasquez called the secret police. Their investigation disclosed seven pieces of crystal, but along with them the package of films marked for delivery to Carlos de Bello Pedreschi.

Sousa, De Bello and Chang Marin recently returned from visits to Peiping and other Communist capitals.

The police confiscated the films. President Jose Antonio Remon said the trio would be prosecuted. If convicted, they face a maximum fine of $1,000 each.

Malayan Guerrillas Invited To Come Out For Feast Saturday

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) — Psychological warfare experts have invited Malaya's embattled guerrilla rebels — 98 per cent of them Chinese—to come out of the jungle for a traditional Chinese New Year feast on Saturday.

"Remember preserved ducks, sausages and meat?" asked 15,000 cards showered from Royal Air Force planes over North Malaya. "Just think how happy your New Year can be."

"Have you thought about your parents, brothers, sisters, wives, children? What are their circumstances at the present?" the invitations continued. "Ask yourself, must I continue toward the path of death? Or is there a way out even now?"

"Yes, there is a way. Hurry up and come out of the jungle."

Tax Bill Delayed Again In Lansing

LANSING (AP) — The House of Representatives seethed today with its own ideas for solving the state's fiscal troubles as an impatient Senate learned the long-awaited Higgins Tax Study Committee proposals would be delayed again until next week.

Rep. George Dunn (R-Pigeon), a freshman legislator with the backbone of taxation chairman Louis E. Anderson (R-Northport), had bill all ready for introduction to increase the three cents a pack cigarette tax to five cents.

He figures this would raise an additional $16,000,000 a year in revenue.

Rep. Carl G. Lindquist (R-Iron River), concerned only the Upper Peninsula and would split it into seven instead of eight representative districts.

Otherwise, the research council plans concerned themselves with reshuffling northern Lower Peninsula districts to eliminate by consolidations six districts which have fallen below the minimum population requirements to qualify for a representative.

Rep. D. Reed Orr (R-Battle Creek) said that under present law, amendments to be on the April ballot, must be in the hands of county clerks by next Monday.

He is trying to get around this by urging quick action on his bill to move this deadline up to March 2.

Sen. George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) chairman of the Legislative Tax Study Committee, failed to produce his promised tax recommendations today and said they would be announced Monday.

Meanwhile, there was a tearing rush to get action on two constitutional amendments — one to limit a corporations profits tax to five per cent and the Conlin plan to revise the sales tax diversion and recapture the $50,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund.

Planes To U. P. To Arrive Via Green Bay Port

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — North Central Airlines today was granted permission by the Kent County board of Supervisors airport committee to begin operation here March 1.

The line, under management of Purdue University, will serve Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan, according to Garret Gritter, chairman of the supervisors committee.

The line will give Grand Rapids its first link with the Upper Peninsula directly and new air service from here into Detroit City Airport, Gritter added.

Service from Grand Rapids to the Upper Peninsula will include stops at Menominee, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Marquette, and Hancock-Houghton, Gritter said.

Connect At Green Bay

North Central Airlines proposed service between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan will be via Green Bay, according to B. F. Green, North Central Airlines station manager at Escanaba.

The route and the schedules are established with the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Green said that he doubts the proposed service between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan via Green Bay will be ready to start March 15 because of delays in modifying and standardizing plane equipment.

There will not be, under present plans, a direct air service link between Grand Rapids and Upper Peninsula cities.

North Central planes leaving Detroit will make stops at Lansing and Grand Rapids and then fly to Green Bay, Wis. From there the route will be to Menominee, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Houghton.

Southbound flights out of Houghton will be to Green Bay, with stops at the Upper Peninsula cities named above, before taking off for Grand Rapids.

For all purposes Green Bay will be a stop for all North Central Airlines flights between the Upper and Lower Peninsula cities. This is held necessary to adequately serve traffic originating in Wisconsin as well as the Upper Peninsula, Green said.

North Central does have U. S. government contracts for carrying air mail and this service to the U. P. will be improved when flights from Green Bay to Michigan's Lower Peninsula are started.

Aviation gasoline, diesel fuels, jet fuel, lubricating oils, and a variety of other products may some day be obtained by utilization of coal to make synthetic petroleum.

Hit By Spike Jones Fiddle Bit, Woman Sues For $10,000

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman who claims her face was disfigured by a fragment from a fractured fiddle during a Spike Jones TV program has filed a $10,000 damage suit.

Mrs. Rita Morgan, 25, filed the Circuit Court suit Monday against National Broadcasting Company, the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Corporation, sponsor of the show, and Studebaker Corporation, owner of the theater where the incident occurred Feb. 11, 1951.

Mrs. Morgan, wife of a school teacher, said she already had made an out-of-court settlement with Jones, widely known for his orchestra's slam-bang "musical depreciation" concerts.

The Central and Bungalow schools have been open half days only this past week because of low attendance due to the flu.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Study Plans For Red Cross Drive

Plans for organizing the Red Cross membership drive due to start March 1 were discussed yesterday when the committee planning the drive met in the Sherman Hotel. Gordon Jensen, chairman of the committee, presided over the business discussion.

Ways of publicizing the membership drive were discussed. The possibility was mentioned of buying a John Wayne movie short which publicizes the drive and exhibiting it locally.

A report on all Delta County activities of the Red Cross during the past year is now being finished and the report will be ready in time for use with this year's membership drive, Jensen said.

In a follow-up to yesterday's meeting, the Rev. Joseph Dickson, chairman of the Delta County chapter of the Red Cross and a member of the membership drive committee, said that a kickoff meeting for county membership-drive workers other than Escanaba will be held Sunday March 1 in Rapid River. A meeting for Escanaba workers will be held the following morning in Escanaba. Mrs. William J. Miller of Rapid River has charge of arrangements for the Rapid River meeting.

The 1953 quota for Delta County has not yet been received. This year's national quota is $93,000,000. Of this money $39,204,300 is marked for the armed services and for veterans, and $7,000,000 for the production and processing of gamma globulin, which is used in the fight against infantile paralysis.

The committee included William Winkler, William Anderson, Jess Pomaal, Jensen and Rev. Dickson.

A spokesman for the tugboat companies — grouped in the New York Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Association — said last night it would take two to three days to move all the accumulated shipping.

Yesterday's settlement covered the last remaining point in dispute: a demand by the union, the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), that no tug be manned by less than three men. The employers had insisted that the contract not stipulate crew sizes.

New Drugs Offer Promise In Battle Against Tuberculosis

THE development of two new drugs, viomycin and amicetin, that offer promise in the fight against tuberculosis was revealed this week in separate announcements by two Michigan pharmaceutical companies, Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit, and Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo.

Work Of Spy Hunters Is Never Done

WHEN the government cracks a spy ring as it did recently, it must inevitably give comfort to average citizens who appreciate reassurance that our counter-espionage agents are steadily vigilant.

They could read with pleasure of the departure from these shores of Yuri Novikov, second secretary of the Russian embassy in Washington, the alleged director of the spy network.

One can almost hear some of them saying: "Well, now we're rid of him, and the others will soon be on trial. Let's hope that's the last of them."

There is in the attitude of many Americans toward the activities of foreign agents a kind of pained surprise that they could take place here at all.

Throughout the battle in this country against internal communism, there always has been implicit the idea that we were striving toward a goal with a nice finality to it. In other words, that we would reach that time when there would be no Communists at all in the government, and none on the outside with any access to vital secrets.

Unfortunately, this notion accords very poorly with the facts of life. So long as we have potential enemies abroad in the world, so long shall we have to cope with their agents. Cracking one spy ring, or two, or three, does not eliminate the danger, though it may minimize it importantly.

There are always other spy rings, and if by some chance they should all be discovered, new ones soon would spring up to replace them. Novikov is gone, but who can seriously doubt that his successor already has been chosen and is functioning full tilt?

As head of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith warned last fall that Russian agents may even have filtered into organization. Later he sought to play down that warning, but realists recognized he was talking basic sense.

Foreign agents are not like some non-recurring plague which, once eradicated, will never return to hurt the nation. They are a continuing pestilence, against which an imperiled nation must employ its counter-espionage weapons in an unending effort.

Because well-publicized drives against foreign agents and their networks do not permanently wipe out the spy menace, that does not mean such campaigns are futile. On the contrary, if wisely managed to safeguard the liberties of innocents, these may vastly assist in lessening the national danger.

But the important thing to remember is that the work is never done. We should learn to get over our surprise when spies are turned up in high places and low.

There will be more tomorrow. By the very nature of our free and open democracy, we are probably less spy-proof than any land on earth.

HUMANITY (Milwaukee Journal)

Nothing more heart-warming has come our way in a long while than the spontaneous expression of humanity by American men and women, big companies, church groups and, of course, our magnificent American Red Cross, for victims of Europe's worst flood in centuries.

The National Red Cross has sent $100,000 to the devastated Netherlands. The Milwaukee County chapter is accepting contributions of money for transmission as designated to Red Cross societies in The Netherlands, Belgium, Britain and France. The address is 3724 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Huge amounts of clothing have been received by consular offices of the stricken countries. Big airlines and shipping lines have offered free cargo space. The airlines already have carried tons of clothing as well as vitamins and medicines donated by pharmaceutical concerns.

World tensions force many of us today to think in terms of international power plays and the maneuvering of diplomats. We tend to forget there is a level that is both deeper and higher, the God-given bond of humanity that links us all, one to another, and manifests itself in a time like this.

The Doctor Says... Cleft Palate Surgery Aids Speech, Appearance

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

E. D. has recently asked for a discussion of cleft palate and wishes to know whether a child born with this defect will ever be really normal, and whether medical science knows the cause.

It is not possible to discuss cleft palate without also mentioning harelip, which almost invariably accompanies the former.

Now, in the cleft palate there is a split in the bone and soft tissues at the center of the roof of the mouth. The failure of the bone and soft tissues to grow together occurs before birth and is therefore present when the child is born.

When the defect extends to the upper lip, harelip is said to be present. This name is used because of the supposed resemblance between the human harelip and the divided upper lip of a hare, which is known in anatomy as a rabbit.

The exact cause of harelip or cleft palate is not known. Possibly, in some cases at least, it may be caused by some injury during the growth period of the unborn child. German measles in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy and the appearance of congenital defects of the infant may have some bearing on this.

The presence of a cleft palate or harelip at birth not only affects the appearance of the child, but also interferes with the production of voice sounds and, therefore, results in serious speech difficulties.

Treatment involves surgery. The first step is to decide what operation should be used, and at what age it should be started. All of the operations are somewhat alike since they involve bringing the separated bones together. Dental work is also needed.

When harelip is present, the soft tissues overlying the bone, including the lip, have to be cut carefully and sewn together in a way which will bring good function and leave as inconspicuous a scar as possible.

MAN CAN COVER SCAR A successful operation for cleft palate and harelip can greatly improve the speech as well as the appearance. A boy who has had a successful operation can often completely ignore the past difficulty, since he has the additional advantage of eventually being able to grow a mustache to cover whatever slight scar might remain.

The improvement in the treatment of cleft palate and harelip is owed to the ingenuity and persistence of a great many surgeons. Numerous prominent persons have overcome any difficulties which might remain after surgical treatment.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Ed. Note—Drew Pearson is now on a trip to Berlin and Paris to check on crucial developments there and report on the progress of John Foster Dulles in unifying our allies.)

BERLIN—The most important question in the world today is what's happening behind the iron curtain?

What's the reason for the purges, the indirect attacks on certain Russian leaders, the wave of anti-Semitism, the flood of political refugees daily streaming across the border at Berlin? Upon the answer to this puzzle depends the answer to the question of peace or war and here in Berlin, the only place where there is a gap in the iron curtain, is the best place to get it.

My own diagnosis from talking to those who have been behind the iron curtain and to intelligence experts follows:

1. Some parts of the overexpanded Soviet Union are gorged from too much conquest and are on the brink of revolution today. Various other areas in the Soviet orbit are seething with unrest, and the Red leaders in the Kremlin need scapegoats. Hence the purges and the pogroms.

2. On the face of things, Russia is a long way from war and is in no position to wage it. However, dictators sometimes start war to divert attention from their own failures. That is the greatest danger in Europe today.

To understand what is happening in the Soviet Union you have to remember that there are only about 40,000,000 Russians in the U. S. S. R. and the over-all policy of the Kremlin is to operate and to control the other parts of the Soviet zones—from Mongolia to Czechoslovakia and from Turkey to Poland—for the sole benefit of these 40,000,000 Russians.

SEETHING REBELLION

Thus, while the forty millions around Moscow have never had it so good, the other diverse and nationally minded millions—who are expected to raise more crops, to build more factories, to lay more railroad lines and to support the Soviet war machine—are restless and rebellious. That is why a new word has been coined and added to the already long list of Isms and for which one can now be tried for treason—nationalism. That is was among the charges made against Vladimir Clementis and some of the other Czech leaders. They put Czechoslovakia ahead of the Soviet Union. Deputy Premier Rudolf Slansky, on the other hand, was convicted of leftism. He carried the doctrine of Comintern too far to the left.

Today the greatest danger spot for revolt in the far-flung Soviet orbit is Poland. There peasants are seeing over crop quotas and collective farms. The revolt in Poland ranges from producers sending poor seed to collective farms, for which nine state agricultural farm directors were found guilty, to just plain refusing to make grain deliveries.

Peasants have become so rebellious that Soviet officials even enlisted several hundred priests to encourage crop deliveries. Sabotage of Polish railroads continues and, in general, the nation is closer to emulating Tito's Yugoslavia than any other land ruled by the Reds. In fact, allied observers are a little worried for fear that the Polish revolt might come prematurely and be stampeded out so severely and ruthlessly that restlessness would be discouraged in other parts of the Soviet empire for years to come.

Other areas in which this restlessness is most apparent today are the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Georgia (the birthplace of Stalin), Armenia and Turkestan.

If you look back into Russian history it is fairly easy to see the reason for the current purges and the wave of anti-Semitism. Probably the worst campaign against the Jews took place in 1905 after the great Russian drought of that year when Prime Minister Sergei Witte and Czar Alexander needed scapegoats to blame for the widespread starvation.

Again it is important to remember that in 1914 the Russian military, fearful of unrest at home, wanted war. That was why the Russian military attack in Belgrade was in contact with the little gang of Serb assassins who bombed Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo thereby touching off World War I. That was also why Russia wasted hardly a minute before coming to Serbia's defense by declaring war against the Austro-Hungarian empire. Unrest was rampant in Russia and the little group of generals around the Czar needed a war to keep their shaky empire together. That is the biggest danger inside Russia today.

Letters Of Lincoln Tell His Life Story

NEW YORK — This is the story of Abraham Lincoln's early life, told in his own words.

The Great Emancipator did not write it in a single narrative, but Stefan Lorant, author of the book "Lincoln; a Picture Story of His Life" (Harper) and other volumes on American history, has performed that chore for The Associate Press as a sidelight on the observance tomorrow of the 144th anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

"I have compiled from Lincoln's letters and writings," Lorant explains, "a narrative of his early life. All the words are Lincoln's (except the three bracketed ones in the latter part of the account). The sentences were written at different times, but strung together they read (I hope) as a continuous story."

Parents From Virginia

The following is Lincoln's story: I was born Feb. 12, 1809, near where Hogginsville (Hodgenville) now is, then in Hardin County, Ky., at a point within the now county of La Rue, a mile or a mile and a half from where Hodgen's mill now is. I know no means of identifying the precise locality. It was on Nolin's Creek.

My parents were both born in Virginia, of undistinguished families—second families, perhaps I should say.

My father, at the death of his father, was but six years of age, and he grew up literally without education.

My mother, who died in my 10th year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, and others in Marion County, Illinois.

Before leaving Kentucky, I and my sister were sent, for short periods, to ABC schools, the first kept by Zachariah Reney, the second by Caleb Hazel.

Settled In Forest

I can remember our life in Kentucky: the cabin, the stinted living, the sale of our possessions and the journey with my father and mother to Southern Indiana. We removed to what is now Spencer County . . . in the autumn of 1816, I then being in my eighth year. This removal was partly on account of slavery, but chiefly on account of the difficulty in land titles in Kentucky.

We settled in an unbroken forest, and the clearing away of surplus wood was the great task ahead. I, though very young, was large of my age, and had an ax put into my hands at once; and from that till within my 23rd year I was almost constantly handling that most useful instrument—less, of course, in plowing and harvest seasons.

Our new home was a wild region with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I took an early start as a hunter, which was never much improved afterward. A few days before the completion of my eighth year, in the absence of my father, a flock of wild turkeys approached the new log cabin, and I with a rifle-gun, standing inside, shot through a crack and killed one of them. I have never since pulled a trigger on any larger game.

It was pretty pinching times at first in Indiana, getting the cabin built, and clearing for the crops, but presently we got reasonably comfortable.

(After mother died) my father

SCHOOLING LIMITED

I went to ABC schools by little . . . the aggregate of all my schooling did not amount to one year.

Among my earliest recollection I remember how, when a mere child, I used to get irritated when anybody talked to me in a way that I could not understand. I can remember going to my little bedroom, after hearing the neighbors talk of an evening with my father, and spending no small part of the night trying to make out what was the exact meaning of some of their to me, dark sayings.

One day a wagon with a lady and two girls and a man broke down near us and while they were fixing up, they cooked in our kitchen. The woman had books and read us stories. I took a great fancy to one of the girls; and when they were gone I thought of her a great deal, and one day when I was sitting out in the sun by the house, I wrote out a story in my mind. I thought I took my folks' horse and followed the wagon, and finally I found it, and they were surprised to see me. I talked with the girl and persuaded her to close with me; and that night I put her on my horse, and we started off across the prairie. After several hours we came to a camp; and when we rode up we found it was the one we had left a few hours before, and we went in. The next night we tried again, and the same thing happened—the horse came back to the same place; and then we concluded that we ought not to elope. I stayed until I had persuaded her father to give her to me. I always meant to write that story out and publish it, and I began once, but I concluded that it was not much of a story. But I think that was the beginning of love with me.

When I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write, and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all . . . What I have in the way of education I have picked up, from time to time under pressure of necessity.

U. S. Reorganization May Affect Hundreds Of Federal Workers

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — CQ—Legislation introduced in the 83rd Congress to reorganize certain branches of government may, if enacted, affect hundreds of federal workers in Michigan.

Civil Service Commission figures assembled by Congressional Quarterly show that 43,069 residents of Michigan work for various branches of the federal government.

A survey of reorganization proposals made by CQ indicates that among bills already sponsored or expected to be introduced, are recommendations to revamp the Post Office Department and the Veterans' Administration.

A total of 18,059 residents of Michigan work for the Post Office Department, and 4,132 are employed by Veterans' Administration.

In 1949, the Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Department recommended decentralization of the postal service in 15 regions.

The group also proposed consolidation of VA offices and positions into "functional services."

Backers of both of these suggestions have indicated they will try to get action on them by the new Congress.

The state's Department of Defense employees numbered 13,745 for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1952.

The 7,133 employees connected with other departments and agencies in Michigan may have a stake in other reorganization proposals.

Legislation designed to reorganize the Treasury, Interior, Commerce, and State Departments has already been dropped into the hopper. So have bills which would create a new Department of Social Security and Education, revise federal personnel policies, and consolidate certain medical and public-health activities in a new Department of Health.

A proposal to reorganize and expand the Labor Department is also expected to be brought before the new Congress.

Civil Service employment figures compiled by CQ show that enactment of these proposals would affect federal workers in every state of the Union.

Among the regions most vitally affected would be California, which tops the federal employment list with 260,845 workers, and the District of Columbia area, No. 2 on the list, with 245,146 federal employees.

Least affected would be Delaware, with only 2,529 federal workers, and Vermont, where only

Truman's Mail Chore Described

WASHINGTON — As President Truman was preparing to leave office he got letters saying he was "so right it's almost uncanny" and that his administration was "the poorest excuse for government in history."

He got letters asking for loans of money and for help in getting named homecoming queen. He got suggestions for a piano-playing partner and for a match for daughter Margaret.

And he got, in his last three months in the White House, 6,647 letters telling him what a good president he was.

Mrs. Beth Campbell Short, Truman's correspondence secretary, told the Woman's National Democratic Club yesterday about the letters.

3,332 people are on the government payroll.

One of her hardest chores, she said, was politely saying no to thousands of requests for some of the President's clothes to sell at church bazaars.

Duluth Veteran Popular At 106

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Albert Woolson is 106 today and he's getting used to being an institution.

One of two surviving veterans of the Union Army, he's as popular as an institution at Duluth's aerial lift bridge. Tourists have taken to stopping by for a handshake.

He receives his guests with dignity befitting his age. And he'll recite "After the Battle, Mother" (all 10 verses) at the drop of an eyelash.

He gets hundreds of birthday cards every year and answers them all. Last week he shoveling snow from his front walk "so the postman won't have any trouble getting in."

The ex-drummer boy, veteran of the dash for Vicksburg, thinks President Eisenhower is doing a fine job and puts him in the class with Gen. Grant—his highest compliment.

"Grant had good horse sense," he said. "Ike has too."

Woolson was born in Watertown, N. Y., and came to Minnesota when he was 14 to join his father, a former circus bandmaster. He thinks that is where he gained his musical talent. To this day, the senior vice commander of the Grand Army of the Republic can rap out a drum break or play a tune on his cornet.

Factory Prefers Petticoat Bosses

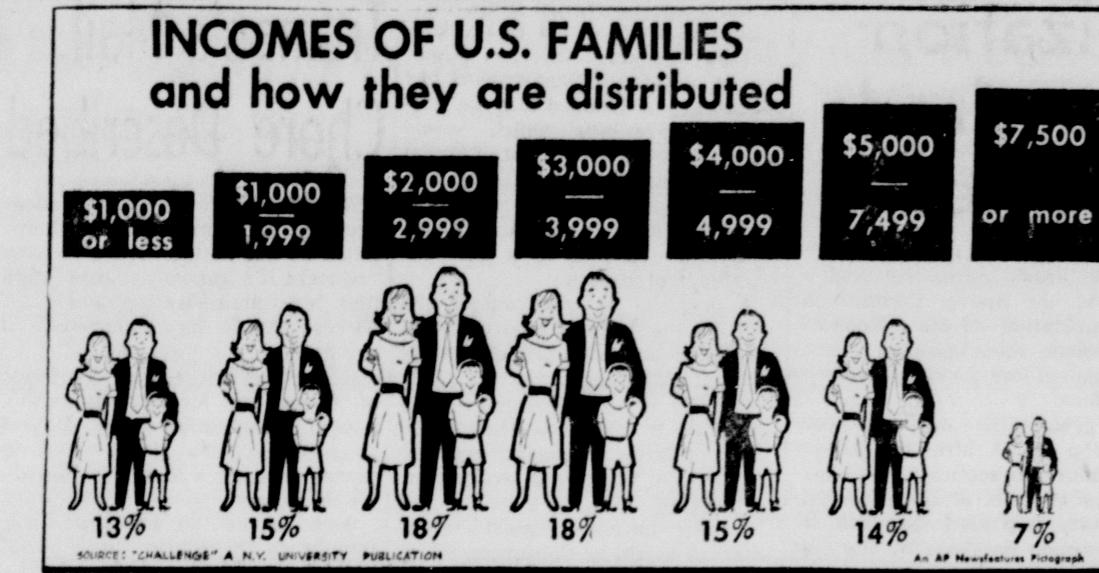

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (AP) — The head of one of the nation's largest water heater manufacturing concerns says that a woman with business sense will make more progress than a man, if given the same opportunity.

That's why Milton J. Stevens, president of the Republic Heater Corp., which does a six million dollar business in a year, has an "all petticoat" management team.

Opal Mitchell, a vice president, acts as national sales manager. Mary Patton, corporation secretary, also is comptroller. Hazel Barrow, once a reception girl for Stevens, now is his chief purchaser, and Mrs. Nancy Martin bosses the service division and is traffic manager.

Stevens makes, besides his own line of water heaters, the product that bears the names of 28 competitors. Efficiency is his watchword. The average plant making home water heaters employs 40 men to make 400 boilers in eight hours, but his plant turns that many out with 10 men, using new machinery, some of which he designed.

He credits much of his success to the efficiency of the women who oversee the manufacture, distribution and maintenance of his products.

Wesley McCune, assistant to Fritchey and special adviser on agriculture and farm problems. He formerly was executive assistant to Truman's secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan. He's a graduate of the University of Colorado and at one time was assistant editor of Newsweek and later correspondent for Time and Life.

Soo Firm Gives 450 Wage Raise

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — In one of the first such actions in Michigan since wage controls were lifted, a Sault firm and its employees agreed yesterday to put into effect a wage increase which was denied by the Michigan Wage Stabilization Board last year.

The agreement covers 450 employees of the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation at two plants here.

The firm and District 50 of the United Mineworkers negotiated a 10 cent wage increase last September, but it was denied by the Michigan WSB.

The company and union appealed to the national WSB which allowed five cents of the proposed hike. Under yesterday's agreement by the firm and the union, the additional five cents will be paid immediately, retroactive to last May.

President Holds News Conference Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will hold his first news conference since his inauguration at 10:30 a. m. (EST) next Tuesday.

This was announced today by James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary.

Hagerty said Eisenhower "will be open for questions" from reporters.

And he said the conference will be held in the old State Department Building where Harry Truman held his news conferences.

Peruvian Boys Like The U. S.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

MCLEAN, VA.—The time has come to report on Adon Collante and Victor Chumpitaz, the Indian boys my bride brought up from Peru to help her maintain our beaten-up acres.

Adon was the inside boy, who kept things shiny from attic to cellar. Victor was the outside man, who soon conquered the tractor, but who never could figure out why it was necessary to keep oil in the power lawnmower.

Despite a few bobbles at first, Adon and Victor were downright superb; we paid them the going rate, and by Peruvian standards, they were rich. For a year-and-a-half they anticipated our every wish, and one or the other usually was at my elbow to see what I needed. This said my bride, was it. Her worries were over.

Adon On Air Force

Adon, the 21-year-old, was ambitious. Night after night he sat up late struggling to learn the English language. He rigged himself a blackboard on his bedroom wall, and he worked so hard at it that Mrs. O. began giving him afternoons off so he could study in school. He learned rapidly and we were proud of Adon.

Soon, the draft board was breathing down his neck. He was a perfect physical specimen, and his knowledge of English was excellent. Just before Gen. Hershey grabbed him, Adon enlisted with our blessings, in the Air Force. Now he is functioning as a mechanic at a base in Texas. He writes us frequently, says he intends to apply for citizenship papers as soon as possible, and figures on being a machinist when he gets out of service. Our own idea is that he's going to make a fine American.

Victor, who was 24, didn't show much interest in learning English.

He could say all he needed to say in Spanish; what fascinated him were my tools. Particularly did he like planes, saws, and augers. There was no lumber where he came from, and this was a new wooden world to Victor. He soon became the best builder of fences in McLean. He fitted windows and repaired chicken houses. Obviously, he was on the road to becoming an artist in woodworking. We were proud of him, too.

Even when the Army turned him down for mental reasons, we were proud. Victor was as smart as the lieutenants who examined him: he just didn't know what they were talking about. Nor care very much. He returned to our

THE LINCOLN COUNTRY

Sketched on the Spot by Ralph Lane

NO. 6—THE CIRCUIT RIDER

The Metamora courthouse in Woodford County, Ill., northeast of Peoria, is preserved as one of the many Lincoln memorials. In the early days in Illinois it was the custom for lawyers to accompany circuit judges and represent litigants in cases to be held. The days were long, the traveling arduous and the pay small. Lincoln, like any other budding lawyer of the day, spent eight months out of the year riding the old Eighth Circuit to practice law. Historians are in agreement that these years of legal practice had much to do with his keen understanding of human nature and his later greatness.

place and made the sawdust fly. He worked hard all day, and our problem was to keep him from working all night.

He said he liked to work; it kept him from getting lonesome. We'd been worrying about this, and we encouraged him to take the bus into Washington on an evening for a whirl among the bright lights. One weekend, he went to New York, but those tall buildings frightened him.

Victor Falls In Love
His jaunts into town he enjoyed. They became more frequent and that was fair enough. Victor was making friends. Then, the obvious happened.

Victor fell in love with a girl who lived in the city. And how could he court her when he was stuck in the woods and the last bus left at eight? He moped for a while, wouldn't say a word about his problems. Hilda thought he was ill. She questioned him closely, and he explained tearfully (Indians being emotional people) that he was in love. And what should he do?

My bride said he should move into town. Victor's tears became smiles and he followed her advice. He's an apprentice carpenter at one of Washington's leading hotels now. He earns $40 a week and he gets to see his girl every night. He can't complain about that. My bride currently is washing

Formosa Airmen Supply Guerrillas On Red Mainland

By SPENCER MOSSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese general reported plans for airdrops every two weeks to supply guerrilla forces in the mountains of the Chinese mainland.

The general, attached to President Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters, requested anonymity. He said Formosa-based Nationalist Air Force B-17s made seven airdrops to guerrilla units in the heart of Red China in 1952.

He reported ammunition, machine guns, other light weapons, and even instructors were dropped.

He asserted the national government maintains contact with 630,000 to 650,000 guerrillas and is in daily radio contact with 20 per cent of these.

The general reported that in 1952 guerrillas fought 609 engagements on the mainland, inflicting 220,000 Red casualties. He did not report guerrilla losses.

Immense importance is attached to increasing the capabilities of the guerrilla forces. Their cooperation would be vital to the success of any commando-type raids and of any ultimate attempt to invade the mainland.

URANIUM CLAIMS STAKED

the dishes. And where'd you think I got that sore thumb? Smashed it with a hammer, of course.

First Inauguration:

Fireworks For George Washington

In his richly-decorated special barge, propelled by 13 oarsmen, (for the thirteen states) Washington approaches the foot of Wall Street, New York, to be greeted by high dignitaries of the city and state.

President Eisenhower's inauguration was reported mostly in superlatives. It was the "best," the "most exciting" and so forth. That all may be true—modern inaugurations are concerned. But for all-round whoo-hoo-to-do and public excitement—amounting in some cases to mass hysteria—our latter-day Presidents will have a long way to go before they can match the jubilant pandemonium that erupted for George Washington's inauguration. It broke loose all along his route from Mount Vernon to the inauguration in New York City—then the provisional capital of the 13-year-old United States. But let a historian describe the first President's journey. Here's how Stefan Lorant tells it in "The Presidency," from which these illustrations are reproduced: "The journey turned into an ovation from beginning to end. In Alexandria, in Georgetown, in Baltimore, in Havre de Grace, in Wilmington, in Chester, in Philadelphia—in all these places wildly cheering people lined the route. Speechmaking, military parades, banquets and choruses caused Washington to halt his coach every few miles. Trenton built triumphal arches to greet the President-elect . . . many people wept . . . through Brunswick and Woodbridge there were more ovations, more people, more cheering. At Elizabethtown . . . the committee from Congress . . . accompanied him to Elizabethtown Point, where Washington boarded a boat manned by 13 pilots of the harbor. The last part of the journey to Manhattan was made on water . . . the shores of New York were crowded with great multitudes, vessels in the harbor displayed their colors, salutes were fired."

As Washington was led to his temporary residence "Bells were rung, banners displayed from the fort and every building. At night the city was brilliantly illuminated." New York was overcrowded with inauguration visitors who scrounged for any rooms that "could be opened for love, money or the most persuasive speeches." Inauguration day was April 30, 1789. The colorful procession to the Federal building was in dramatic contrast to the day's climax—the starkly simple oath-taking. After the ceremony "that evening everyone in New York was on the streets. Fireworks rocketed; cascades, serpents, fire trees and fountains lit the skies. It was a memorable, unforgettable night."

African Service To Feature World Day Of Prayer

Sounded to drumbeats from the hills of Africa comes the call to Christians around the world to join on Feb. 20 in the 66th observance of World Day of Prayer.

Issued here through the General Department of United Church Women, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., the call is expected to be answered by prayer groups gathering in 18,000 U.S. communities and 114 other nations to express their common faith.

The United Church Women's service in Escanaba will be held at the First Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. Participants will use a service prepared by the women of Africa on the theme, "Walk as Children of Light." An unusual feature will be a thanksgiving "Song of the Emancipated" chanted to the rhythmic clapping of hands in the custom of native Africans.

Traditionally held on the first Friday of Lent, the World Day of Prayer is a 24-hour period set apart for a globe-encircling demonstration of Christian unity, through prayer and meditation and through offerings used for missions projects at home and abroad. When Feb. 20 dawns on the international dateline, Queen Salote and her devout subjects in the Tonga Islands will be among the first to speak a common prayer, which will be echoed from continent in hundreds of languages and dialects until the day draws to its close with Eskimos in the frigid Arctic and Samoans in the tropical southwest Pacific voicing the final "Amen."

Observance Here

In the United States, the day is marked in some communities by the closing of business establishments, hourly ringing of church bells, and worship services in hospitals, factories and homes as well as in churches. Proclamations from governors and mayors, and announcement by television and radio broadcasters urge support of the observance.

The United Council of Church Women, now the General Department of United Church Women, National Council of Churches, is responsible for the planning and promotion of the observance. Last year this organization reported that services were held in more than 17,000 communities of the U.S. and in 113 other nations, with offerings in this country totaling more than a third of a million dollars.

World Day of Prayer offerings here are divided equally between the National Council's Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions.

Naomi Johnston Is The Bride Of Donald P. Jacobs

Bouquets of long-stemmed coral gladioli and white pompons adorned the altars of St. Patrick's Church Saturday for the wedding of Miss Naomi Jean Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Johnston, 1406 2nd Ave. S., and Donald Phillip Jacobs, son of Mrs. Irene Jacobs of 2318 Ludington St., Escanaba, and Phillip Jacobs of Ralph.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Father Francis A. Hollenbach at 9 a.m. nuptial mass.

The bodice of the bride's gown, styled with an empire waistline, was of Chantilly lace with a yoke of nylon tulle and long pointed sleeves. Nylon tulle over satin formed the skirt which extended into a cathedral train. Matching lace edged her fingertip veil which was caught to a tiara seed pearls and rhinestones. Her only jewelry was a rock crystal necklace which was her maternal grandmother's. Attached to the mother of pearl cover of her prayer book was a single lavender orchid with satin ribbon markers knotted with stephanotis.

The gown worn by her attendants were of identical fashion, made with nylon lace tops and nylon tulle skirts over taffet. The headpieces were of matching velvet in tiny leaf pattern. Miss Marilyn Jacobs, sister of the bridegroom, who was maid of honor, wore coral and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations. Mrs. Kathleen Pearson and Miss Joyce Goldberg, bridesmaids, and Janet Sue Johnston, sister of the bride, who was junior bridesmaid, were in aqua and white and carried colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds surrounded by yellow pompons.

The wedding breakfast was served at the Knights of Columbus Hall for 30 guests and the reception for 250 guests also was held there. The tables were covered with coral net and the five-tiered wedding cake was decorated with aqua roses. Mrs. Carl Olson presided at the silver service. Boy Teased, Hangs Himself In Garage

DETROIT (AP)—"Thoughtless parents' cruelty" was blamed by Dearborn Township police for the death of a 14-year-old schoolboy whose body was found hanging in the garage of his parents' home.

The boy, Robert Colburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Colburn, had a speech impediment and other disfigurements, according to police.

The youngster was the object of teasing by other children.

Robert came home from his seventh grade classes yesterday afternoon. His mother said her son was visibly upset and had complained the "kids" were tormenting him again.

Later his father went to the garage to get a hose to wash his car. He found his son's body hanging from a rafter.

Dearborn firemen tried unsuccessfully to revive the boy.

PRISON CAMP BALLOT

Editor

Several articles have appeared in the newspapers on the proposed prison camp in Schoolcraft County. Some folks are in favor of the camp and others are opposed. Has the public at large been given an explanation of the appropriation to construct this camp and have we been told what projects the prisoners are to work on besides the state park?

How many prisoners will be here and for how long? In what way will the camp be beneficial to business? Are the prisoners paid for their work? Is it not the taxpayer who foots the bill for this type of project? With the State of Michigan in the financial condition it is, how can money be appropriated for this project? Will the prisoners doing work in the county strengthen the unemployment situation, while people are and have been leaving the county because no work is available? Are there any people receiving welfare who might be glad to work for wages that could be paid with the money that would go into the structure of a prison camp? Will not a project of this type add more employees to the state payroll at a time when the budget is overdrawn? Will the sponsors of the camp project answer these questions in the daily papers?

The council also approved a lease with Mrs. Denys Eck for use of a building in Central Park for ice storage until Sept. 30 at which time the structure is to be vacated. A prior lease with the late William Eck was voided.

The city contemplates removal of the building from the site following expiration of the lease.

Other business transacted by the city board included the appointment of Acting Manager Livermore as street administrator to conform with state highway contract regulations and the granting of a permit to the Manistique Oil Company to construct a new service station at the corner of Deer St. and Chippewa Ave.

The permit included a provision requiring approval of the city manager and fire chief. L. E. Hambeau, of the oil firm, presented plans for the structure and told councilmen the building would replace an existing filling station.

To Segregate Water Funds

Complete segregation of Manistique water department cash and accounts from the city general fund was ordered by the Manistique City Council at a regular meeting Monday night.

The necessity of making the change to conform with a city water bond ordinance approved last fall was emphasized by William Hood, city attorney, and W. A. Moreau, city treasurer and assistant acting manager.

Engagement of an auditor to install a revised water department accounting system was approved.

Moreau pointed out that under the ordinance the city should maintain eight separate water funds, including the bond fund.

Under the existing system water department revenue is intermingled with general funds, being separated only at year's end when water utility profits are transferred to a separate bank account.

The water account, according to figures submitted to the council by Moreau, contains $20,000 and there remains an estimated $16,000 still to be transferred to it.

FOR 3 YEARS I SUFFERED THE FIERCE PAIN OF NEURITIS

I was in constant pain and couldn't do anything. Then I took O-JIB-WA BITTERS and can now do most everything with no pain at all," says Mrs. Herman Goscke, 1309 W. King Road, Owosso, Michigan.

The hard sharp pains of Neuritis and Arthritis have entirely left me since I began to take O-JIB-WA BITTERS. O-JIB-WA did more for me in 30 days than everything I tried put together in the last three years. When I think of how I suffered with neuritis and arthritis in my back, arms and legs so unnecessary for all that time, I wish I could personally tell others what O-JIB-WA did for me. Before I used this wonderful medicine I couldn't work on the lawn or in the garden or hardly get around the house to do my housework. I suffered terrible pains day and night, which interrupted my sleep and made me very nervous. I tried many medicines and treatments, but for the little good they did me, I would have been money ahead without them. Frankly, to make my story short, nothing helped me before I tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS. It really brought results as now I haven't the slightest sign of pain of neuritis or arthritis. I am back doing my own housework and everything I used to do. I could go on for hours praising your medicine, but in closing want to say that O-JIB-WA is also good for stomach trouble, as it cleared up my gas and indigestion in a hurry. O-JIB-WA BITTERS is truly wonderful and its too bad all people suffering with neuritis and arthritis don't try it sooner."

Sentinel, Hawk Sextets To Clash At 8:15 Tonight

Fast All-Out Puck Battle Is Expected

You can bet both teams will be at peak strength at the fairgrounds ring tonight when Marquette and Escanaba tangle in a renewal of what has developed into the most heated rivalry in the fast Northern Michigan Hockey League. Faceoff time is 8:15.

So intense has this rivalry become that neither team would dare show up for a game at anything less than full strength. And that means everyone—the fast and tricky skaters who concentrate on the puck and the rough-and-tough boys who like the tingle of body contact along with it.

It hasn't quite developed yet, but the heat generated by the Marquette-Escanaba rivalry may one day take the play away from the big, bad Bukoviches of Portage Lake. That includes Malicious Mike, Terrible Tony and Joltin' Joe Bukovich, with Body-Checking Bernie Ruelle thrown in for good measure.

Situation In Hand
Tonight it will be a power-backed Marquette Sentinel aggregation against a hustling band of Escanaba Hawks who seek to make it two in a row over Marquette. The Hawks turned back the Sentinels, 6-3, in a bruising game in Marquette last week.

That melee got out of hand a couple of times, but the league fathers have reinstated Fred Brunelle as Marquette official and Mel Bertrand, Escanaba official, has asked to have his white sweater returned, and these two gentlemen are expected to keep things under control.

Marquette will no doubt open with its sparkling No. 1 line of Cud VanOverloop, Johnny Vasseau and Roy Olson which ranks 2-3-4 in league scoring behind Monsieur Bukovich and Ted Boesler and Bob Quinn on defense with Jim DeMarinis in the nets. Augmenting this power will be the venerable Gordon Olson, said to be returning to his form of yore, and Jim Eady, who never left his form of yore, and such capable front line hustlers as Jim Swenor, Buck O'Neill, Dick Wanberg, Dick Marlowe and a host of others.

Near-Capacity Crowd
Escanaba likely will meet the opening faceoff with Len Webster, Joe Ricci and Buddy Provo up front, Hubert Hamilton and Ed Broughton on the blue line and Ben Artwich in the net. Clarence Matt, who scored two goals in his first game against his former Marquette mates, and George Schultz will spell off the defense with the latter hoping to regain his early season form.

Mark Olson will spark a second line to be selected from Dave Serbinski, Neil Sinclair, Joe Anthony, Jim Ogle and Bob Higgins. With Bert Petaja missing, Coach Olson likely will work with Ogle and Serbinski.

A near-capacity crowd is expected tonight because of the intense rivalry that has developed between the Sentinels and Hawks.

Approximately 1,400 saw the only Portage Lake-Escanaba game played here this season and it's anticipated that tonight's crowd may equal that turnout.

Pre-Game Ceremony

Fans are urged to be in their seats early to witness the pre-game ceremony introducing Escanaba's Junior Hawks, starting at 8:05, and to assure being on hand for the opening faceoff.

Davey-Gavilan fight fans are reminded that the big fight tonight will not be radio broadcast and that the television broadcast will not start until 10 p.m.

Fight results (Davey-Gavilan that is) will be announced over the public address system as soon as available. Arrangements have been made to procure information on the progress of the fight via teletype.

Trojans Trip St. Paul In Ragged Game, 45-39

NEGAUNEE — The St. Joseph Trojans defeated St. Paul's of Negaunee, 45 to 39, in a closely fought but somewhat sloppy basketball game here last night.

The game was marred by frequent fouls, a total of 49 on the two teams, and by numerous calls for travelling and double dribbles.

The Trojans were outscored from the field, 11 to 13, but cashed 23 free throws to only 14 for Negaunee's Parochials. The Trojans lost one man on foul, Bryson, and St. Paul lost three, Cronin, Jandron and Portale.

St. Paul led at the first quarter, 10-8, but the Trojans moved in front at half time, 21-18. The game was tied again at the end of the third period, 30-30, but St. Paul tolded in the final quarter and the Trojans went on to a 45-39 victory.

In the preliminary game the St. Joseph Reserves defeated St. Paul Reserves, 56-23. The Trojans will travel to Stephenson Friday night.

Big Crowd Sees Detroit Bowlers

A more-than-capacity crowd jammed the Arcade Bowling Alleys last night to see Escanaba bowlers outshot by only 109 points in three games by the famed Pfeiffer bowlers. In the first game the Escanaba players were outscored by 26 and in the second game by only 25 points.

The crowd was estimated at 200 to 250 by Harold Myers, proprietor of the alleys.

"We were so packed", Myers said. "People were lined up and down the sides of the alleys. I put in enough chairs and benches to make 150 to 200 extra seats."

Total final score for the three games was Pfeiffer, 2890; Escanaba, 2781.

Earlier the Pfeiffer team bowed Sigan's Forest Products team in Gladstone. In three games the Pfeiffers came out ahead by 540 points.

After the games the Pfeiffer team departed by auto for Iron River in the heavy snow.

A line score follows for the games in Escanaba and Gladstone.

Gavilan Defends Title Against Unbeaten Chuck Davey Tonight

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Champion Kid Gavilan, bordering a 3 to 1 favorite, defends his world welterweight title against television's Cinderella Kid, unbeaten Chuck Davey, before 20,000 at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

They were scheduled for a 1 p.m., EST, weigh-in.

It will be Gavilan's fifth defense of the 147-pound crown he won from Johnny Bratton May 18, 1951.

No Broadcast

The 15-round bout will be televised nationally (but not broadcast) at 10 p.m., EST.

Seldom has a championship match brought together two foes so unmatched in style, temperament, background, and — the experts say — in ability.

Gavilan, 27-year-old Cuban with meager education, is a veteran of 105 fights, knocked down only once, and unbeaten in 26 straight fights since a 10-round loss to gene Hairston Oct. 30, 1950.

Davey, 26-year-old Irish lad from Detroit, who holds a master's degree from Michigan State College, has bobbed behind a stinging, tantalizing southpaw attack to 37 victories and two draws in a pro career which began less than four years ago, late in 1949.

Slice Worth $130,000

The bout may pay Gavilan as much as $130,000 off his 40 per cent slice of the net gate and TV some $65,000 from his 20 per cent take.

The TV sponsor guaranteed the matchmaking International Boxing Club a $200,000 net gate. Reportedly, there is a chance a $250,000 net will be realized from a 20,000 attendance.

In that case, the TV sponsor will kick in $80,000 for Gavilan and Davey to nibble at on their 40-20 basis.

On the eve of the fight, Gavilan was a 13 to 5 favorite, with the prospect it would be 3 to 1 when the gladiators entered the ring.

Davey's betting support has not evidenced itself in real money. The carriage trade all likes the sandy-haired ex-collegian, who completely dominated the NCAA ranks a few years ago. But the betting on Davey is mainly neighbor-against-neighbor, based on his previous TV success.

Gavilan has fought 25 rounds with former welter and middleweight champion Robinson, losing a 10-round decision in 1948 and a 10-round title affair a year later.

Left Best Punch

In his 10-year pro career, Gavilan has won 89 of his 105 bouts and knocked out or stopped 26 foes.

He has stepped into the back yard of the local favorite—Billy Graham in New York, Bobby Dykes in Miami, Fla., and Gil Turner in Philadelphia, to achieve bristling victory.

It will be the Kid's sixth fight over the 15-round route. Davey never has gone 15 rounds and presumably must slow his usual blistering pace to stay close to Gavilan for the distance.

Davey's most punishing punch is a left to the body. It was this blow which twice crumpled Chico Vejar, once as bright a TV hero as Davey himself. In several bouts, particularly in a second match with a journeyman scrapper, Carmen Basilio, Davey has been severely cut about the eyes.

hit the NIT from three directions. The NCAA enlarged its tournament field to 23 teams, picked conflicting dates and told colleges they no longer could play in both meets.

Seton Hall Is Prize

One of the 23 NCAA berths was filled last night when Idaho State clinched the Rocky Mountain Conference championship. This conference is one of 14 which automatically qualify their champions for the NCAA Tournament.

In past years many teams have made a double run for tournament glory. City College of New York won both in 1950. Duquesne, St. John's of Brooklyn, St. Louis and Dayton all tried both last year.

La Salle of Philadelphia won the 1952 tournament and will be welcome back, but unbeaten Seton Hall is the prize the NIT wants most.

Seton Hall will prefer the NCAA. The school has tried the NIT three times without success. It's last loss was in last year's NIT to La Salle.

The tournament has to have several New York teams to ensure its financial success. These probably will be Manhattan College and either New York University or St. John's of Brooklyn—possibly both.

Open March 7

Sponsors of the NIT say they are studying carefully the records of every possible team but so far nothing official has been announced. The first acceptances may come next week. The tournament opens March 7.

Good bets for invitations would seem to be Holy Cross, Seattle University, Louisville, Western Kentucky, Dayton and Duquesne from last year's field plus Niagara, Tulsa and Oklahoma City University. These would be in addition to Seton Hall, La Salle and the New York schools. Since some of the teams might prefer the NCAA Tournament, the original NIT in invitation list is bound to include more than the final dozen entries.

nolds left his in and won 20. Red Ruffing lost his right toes in a mine accident, which, fortunately for himself and the Yankees, confined his baseball playing to pitching.

Sinus Hampered Foxx

There were days when Jimmy Foxx could scarcely see because of the sinus that abbreviated the magnificent play of George Sisler.

Migraine headaches forced Hal Trosky into retirement. Travis Jackson had loose cartilage removed from his knee.

Osteomyelitis made White Kurkowski's left arm shorter than his right. One of Marty Marion's legs was shorter than the other. Mr. Shortstop finally was kept in the dugout by the combination of a sacroiliac that kicked up and a damaged knee. Lou Boudreau spent 30 minutes daily taping and bandaging battered feet and ankles. There was Three-Fingered Brown. Joe Black attributes his success to a stiff finger. It was

Shakeups In Major U. S. Agencies Expected As GOP Bids For New Look

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders have kicked off their drive to give the federal government a new look in 1953.

The GOP told the voters, in its successful 1952 campaign, that the "time for a change" had come and that Republicans should be elected to "clean up the mess" in Washington. Since the election, GOP leaders from President Eisenhower down have said that reorganization of government is a "must" for achieving the new Administration's twin goals of tax reduction and federal economy.

Sizeable agencies were born and grew up under Democratic control in the 20 years since Republicans last were fully in power. Control of all major agencies long has been in Democratic hands.

On the executive side, a report to the President is expected soon from the special advisory committee on reorganization created last December and consisting of Nelson Rockefeller, chairman, Dr. Arthur S. Fleming, of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President and head of Pennsylvania State College.

Meanwhile, the Republicans have launched, with new hope, legislation designed to streamline federal activities in agriculture, health, natural resources, personnel, and veterans and overseas affairs, a Congressional Quarterly survey shows.

Big Problems For Congress

Any major reforms, and the overall question of whether to continue present methods of reorganizing Uncle Sam, will be hammered out in Congress. The trek of new cabinet officers to the "Hill" to appear before Committees began even before they were sworn in, and the Administration has pressed for action on legislation to provide a sort of "general manager" for the State Department.

But some immediate changes will result from the transfer of control of executive departments to Republican hands. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles quickly issued a "loyalty" letter to his Department and the first official act of Ezra Taft Benson as Secretary of Agriculture was to regroup several of the department's agencies for "better and more effective coordination." The regrouping did not eliminate any of the department's activities.

Other changes will be originated by the GOP-controlled Congress or, in the case of Presidential reorganization plans, will be subject to possible disapproval by either the House or Senate.

Reorganization Proposals

In Congress, about 35 reorganization measures quickly were introduced. They include:

Extension, and possibly revision of the Reorganization Act of 1949, due to expire March 31; creation of a new commission to study

Turkey Has Wheat Surplus This Year

ISTANBUL (AP)—Turkey has a record wheat crop this year—thanks in part to U.S. assistance—but may have trouble selling the surplus abroad.

There are two reasons: Other wheat-growing countries also had good crops, and are competing in the world market. Turkey's price is higher than the going rate, because the Turkish government paid the farmer a high price for its wheat.

The government's "Office of Soils Products" buys directly from the Turkish farmer a good share of the wheat raised here. The independent newspaper Hurriyet said the crop of six million tons should leave an exportable surplus of 1,500,000 tons.

federal-state relationships; legislation to enact those proposals of the original Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch which Congress has not yet considered; and establishment of a group to survey federal overseas activities.

Congressional sentiment appears to favor extending the law which authorizes the President to submit reorganization plans to the Congress. President Eisenhower is said to favor this action. Criticism has been voiced by Rep. Clace Hoffman (R-Mich.), chairman of the House government operations committee, who has said the law is "an usurpation of Congressional authority." Hoffman's committee meanwhile prepared for hearings on a bill by Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) to continue the President's powers.

Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) Jan. 23 introduced Senate legislation to extend the President's reorganization powers until 1955.

Bills to create a new reorganization commission have been introduced by Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.); and by Reps. Brown, Frederic R. Coudert Jr. (R-N.Y.), Angier L. Goodwin (R-Mass.), and Glenn R. Davis (R-Wis.).

Back To States, Industry

As visualized by Ferguson and Brown, this proposed 12-member group would attempt to single out operations now being conducted by the federal government which might more logically be handled by states or private industry.

Sixteen of the reorganization bills now before Congress were sponsored by Rep. Hoffman. These measures, all of which are intended to obtain Congressional action on remaining Hoover Commission proposals, would:

One of Hoffman's goals is creation of a temporary national committee on intergovernmental relations. This objective is also sought in two other House bills, introduced by Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.) and by Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R-N.Y.).

Propose New Agencies

Both Hoffman and Margesite S. Church (R-Ill.) seek establishment of a commission to study federal overseas activities.

Three other new groups have been proposed by Democrats—Sen. Pat McCarran (Nev.) and Reps. Isidore Dollinger (N.Y.), and Thomas J. Lane (Mass.). McCarran wants an independent air safety board set up; Dollinger would like to see a consumers' advisory committee in the Commerce Department; and Lane proposes a commission on federal reimbursements to state and local governments for federal ownership of real property.

Rep. George Bender (R-Ohio) is sponsoring a bill which would dissolve the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and transfer certain of its activities to commerce, treasury and several other agencies.

Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) has introduced a resolution recommending transfer from the Bureau of Reclamation of functions concerning irrigation projects in Indian reservations.

Most of these proposals are backed by the newly reactivated Citizens' committee for the Hoover report. This group, first formed to "mobilize public opinion" in support of the Hoover commission's proposals, but inactive since June, 1952, has said it will resume its fight for a "thoroughgoing, realistic" program to reorganize government.

Insect-killing floor wax gives a bright finish to floors of linoleum, asphalt, and rubber tile, cement and wood, and kills ants and other household insects that come in contact with it. The insecticide Lindane, used in it, is harmless to humans and pets.

3 Swimming Pools, Air-Cooled Dogs

ITALY'S SS ANDREA DORIA: The designers pulled out all stops to make a floating palace.

GENOA, Italy—(NEA)—Even the kennels are air-conditioned on the SS Andrea Doria. And that's one reason why the Italian Line's newest ship may be the most luxurious vessel afloat.

The 30,000-ton ocean masterpiece is the first Italian-built luxury liner since the war. It was constructed with the definite purpose of bringing more tourist dollars into Italy. With that end

Even Ancients Ski Is The Latest Word

SUN VALLEY, Idaho—An Olympic skiing expert says you're never too old—or too young—to ski.

Fred A. Picard, technical adviser to the 1952 U.S. women's Olympic skiing team, says he has seen 1-year-old children slipping around on skis. In Switzerland, he says, children usually begin skiing at the age of 4 or 5 and in Norway some skiers are 80.

"This should come as a big surprise to men of 40 and 50 who claim they are too old to ski," he says.

Air-conditioning is used throughout the vessel—even in the garages and kennels. The garage, incidentally, is so located that passengers traveling with their cars can drive them directly into the ship through a special ramp.

And the kennels have hot and cold showers and baths, collapsible beds, electric lights—even a reserved promenade space on the sun deck.

The non-art features of the Andrea Doria are even more spectacular. The ship boasts three swimming pools, one for each passenger class. It has four movie theaters, including one outdoors.

The

Life Of Upholsterer Is Filled With Surprises

LOWELL, Mass.—Charlie Halligan has spent his life in a surprising occupation.

As an upholsterer, he was always surprised by what he found in the sofas and chairs people sent him for re-upholstering. Charlie, now retired at 67, says you never know what you'll find in a piece of stuffed furniture.

There was the time back in 1926 when he found a Benjamin Harrison campaign banner. It had been used in the successful Republican campaign of 1888. Somebody had tried to dye it dark brown and had then used it to cover the bottom of an antique sofa.

Perhaps Charlie Halligan likes best to recall how his long experience in upholstering saved a friend from serious domestic embarrassment.

The friend came to Charlie upset. He feared he had lost his glasses in a bar room. He had reason to be genuinely fearful over what his wife's reaction would be.

Charlie retraced his friend's uncertain route of the night before and wound up staring at a stuffed chair in the man's own home.

"Knowing how easily things get lost in stuffed furniture," Charlie says, "I started feeling down in the back and there—to my friend's joy and relief—were his missing glasses. As far as I know, his wife never did find out about that trip to the bar."

Civilization Causes Heron Bewilderment

MANHASSET, N. Y. (AP)—After some anxious moments two policemen managed to return a blue heron found on a busy street here to its natural marshland habitat.

The tall bird seemed bewildered by the bright lights when the policemen captured it and put it in a patrol car. The angry bird ripped a hole through the patrolman's notebook and the floorboard of the car with its long bill.

The policemen locked the heron in a nearby service station for the night and the station proprietor returned the bird to its natural habitat in the morning. The proprietor, who wasn't expecting to see the bird when he opened up in the morning, said, "I thought for a minute I was in Florida."

DOESN'T STOP FREIGHT
HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists claim the volume of freight carried by coastal vessels in 1952 was six times greater than carried in 1950, despite the U. S. embargo. The Reds also say that river traffic has increased but no percentages or figures were given.

Philippine Banker Has Trade Troubles

MANILLA (AP)—Large-scale trade prospects between the Philippines and countries within the pound sterling area are slim, Governor Miguel Cuaderno of the Philippines Central Bank disclosed recently.

Giving the ease of Japan, which has had difficulty in trading with a portion of the approximately $20 million pounds sterling it received from sales of exports, Cuaderno said all countries, including those in the sterling bloc, prefer dollar payment for their exports.

London's Tower Has Bloody Tale

WASHINGTON—British treasure hunters who recently asked permission to dig beneath the Tower of London for a $700,000 fortune they believe was buried there almost 300 years ago are seeking the privilege of burrowing into England's most hallowed sacred shrine.

A governor of the Tower, before being executed for extortion from prisoners, is said to have buried the money. The eager excavators think they have located the cache near the Bell Tower.

Volumes are devoted to the recounting of historic events, some ridiculous and some sublime, some ancient and some modern, that have taken place in the Tower buildings and on its grounds. Many of these "splinters of history" are familiar tales, even to Americans. Others may come as surprises.

Boy King Murdered

For example, says the National Geographic Society, almost everyone knows that Sir Walter Raleigh, Guy Fawkes, and Rudolph Hess all were prisoners in the Tower, but few realize that a Duke may have drowned in a vat of wine in a Tower dungeon.

Any English school child knows that a king and three queens, two of the latter wives of Henry VIII, met violent deaths at the Tower. The boy king Edward V was murdered there probably by command of an ambitious uncle, while the queens were beheaded in orderly enough fashion.

But a Countess of Salisbury refused to lie quietly on the block, led the headsman a pathetic chase around the green, and was force-beheaded standing up, possibly while still on the run.

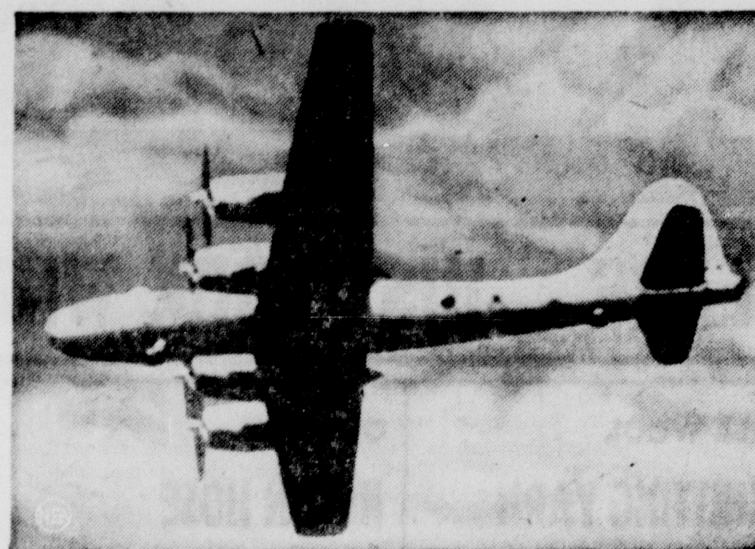

The Crown Jewels of England are kept at the Tower, guarded by the so-called Beefeaters, the Yeomen Warders, who wear medieval uniforms to this day. Thousands of tourists have viewed the jewels. Tourists no longer see lions and leopards, but these beasts were kept there as a "Royal Menagerie" from Norman times until 1834.

Saw Ghost

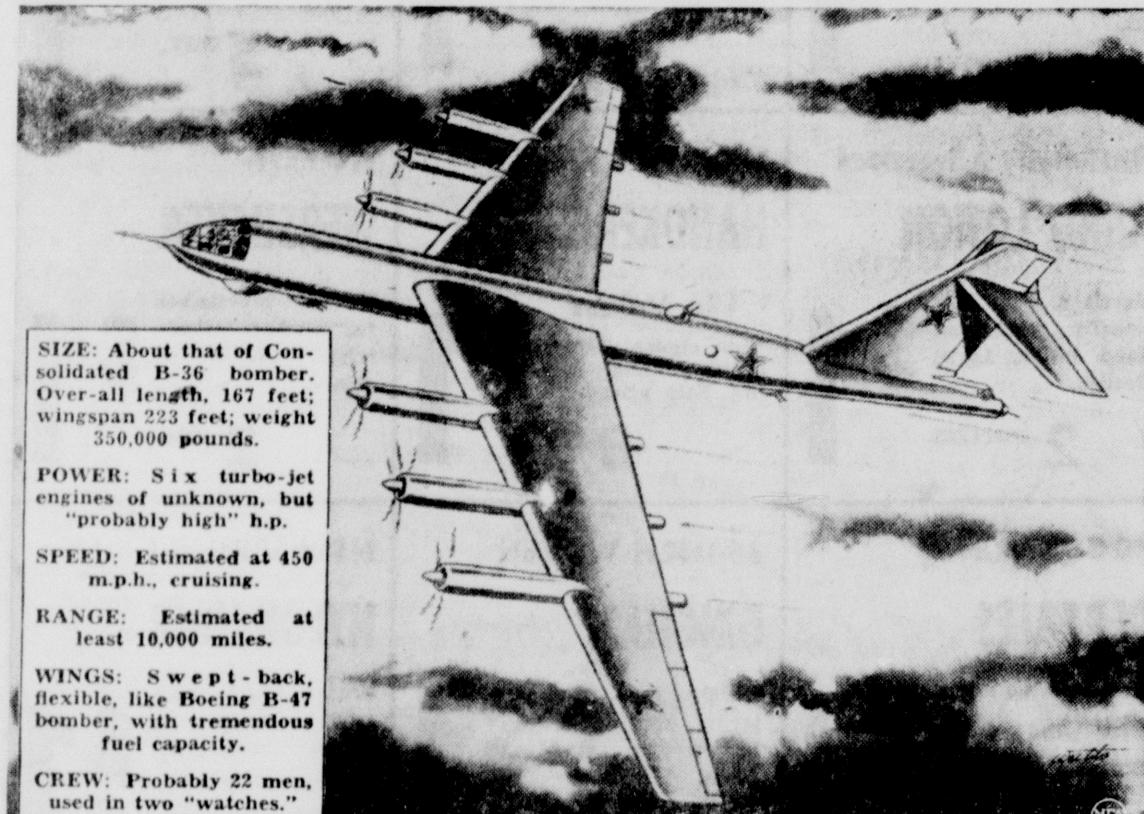

Some of the priceless gems were stolen by one Colonel Blood, who was caught. Charles II, for reasons known to himself, ordered for the colonel not the axe, but a reward of 500 pounds. The jewels were recovered.

There is an official Tower ghost. A soldier found asleep on sentry duty said he was not asleep, but had fainted with terror when approached by a sheeted ghost in Queen Anne Boleyn's bedchamber. A court martial acquitted the soldier, thereby officially recognizing the specter, which has not reappeared.

Turn Signals On Autos Required

NEW YORK—There is a definite trend toward laws requiring turn-signal devices on all motor vehicles in the country, according to a survey by Fleet Owner McGraw-Hill publication.

Last year, legislative proposals were introduced in Maryland, Michigan, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Virginia that would have required turn signals on all new motor vehicles, the magazine reports.

Four states, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York and North Dakota already have such laws, and 40 states now require hand signals be installed in vehicles so loaded or constructed that ordinary hand signals are invisible. For instance, a Florida statute requires turn signal devices if the distance from the center of the steering wheel to the left side of the body exceeds 24 inches.

VOLCANO CHAIN

One of the world's largest volcano chains (a 1,600-mile stretch) is spaced along the strategic Alaska Peninsula and Aleutian Islands, notes the National Geographic Society. During World War II, volcanic eruptions occurring in this region near U.S. military bases brought about emergency geological surveys to determine potential dangers. One volcanic outburst resulted in the death of a soldier and the abandonment of an outpost.

Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

1. Q—How much are the "carrying charges" on the federal government's debt?

A—President Truman, Jan. 9, estimated interest paid out during the 12 months ending June 30, 1953, will total $6,520,000,000. He expected the debt next June 30 to be $263,900,000.

2. Q—Did House probbers investigating tax-exempt educational and philanthropic foundations for possible subversion find anything wrong?

A—In its Jan. 2 report, the special committee said a "few very actual Communists or Communist sympathizers obtained positions of influence in the foundations." It found their record in resisting subversives generally was "good" with a "surprisingly small" portion of grants going to subversives. The committee recommended fuller reporting by foundations and a study of tax laws for the possibility of encouraging gifts to the organizations.

3. Q—Is Congress likely to run into knock-down battle over the Taft-Hartley labor law?

A—Congressional Quarterly survey of opinions expressed by top labor leaders, industrial executives and Congressmen shows nearly unanimous agreement that the labor law has to be revised, but indicates that the parties concerned will exert a more moderate, cooperative effort than formerly in their efforts to hammer out a generally acceptable act.

4. Q—Who are the chairmen of the committees which will handle legislation to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act?

A—Chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee is Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a political scientist and lawyer who favors the Taft-Hartley law, with changes. House Education and Labor Committee Chairman is scheduled to be Rep. Samuel K. McConnell, Jr. (R-Pa.) who voted for passage of the law in 1947, but predicted this year, "we are certainly going to make changes" in it.

5. Q—What is the Eisenhower stand on labor law changes?

A—The new President in a

Sept. 17 address to an AFL convention said he was "in favor not of repealing, but of amending, the (Taft-Hartley) law." He favored continuing in law "the encouragement of collective bargaining," "the right to strike," advance notice on strikes, requirement that unions and employers live up to their contracts, and assurance that union members get regular reports on their organization finances. He said, "I know the law might be used to break unions. That must be changed . . ."

Ike Started Homburg Fashion; They're Now At Head Of Class

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Before his stay in the White House is done, Dwight Eisenhower may do some noble things in the fields of domestic affairs and foreign relations. But, as far as the haberdashers of America are concerned, Ike has already made his mark as a Great President.

With one gesture, he's done more to sell homburgs than any man since King Edward VII. And His Royal Highness is the guy who invented the thing. Or, at least, commanded that it be invented. Ever since, it's been a reasonably popular style of head-warmer, but nobody ever got wealthy selling homburgs.

However, because of his inauguration costume, homburgs are now selling like hot cakes. In fact, some hot cake people have been heard to mutter: "Boy, I wish hot cakes were selling like homburgs."

"We've doubled the sale of blacks," said one store manager. He meant black homburgs.

"Fifty per cent of hats sold this past week," said another manager, "have been homburgs."

"The homburg business," said a third manager, "is running one-third higher than last January."

You get the picture. The respectable homburg, which has accounted for only about five per cent of all hat sales for years and years, is currently a hot hat. So hot, in fact, that some stores are completely sold out. This was the other colors, too. We make seven colors, you know. Now the problem is this — will it continue? I would venture to guess that there will always be some silks sold for Easter and the horse show and the opera opening and June formal weddings.

PRESIDENT'S PRECEDENT is the black homburg President Eisenhower wore to his inauguration. The haberdashers approve his hattitude.

"But there can be no doubt about it. The homburg business has been stimulated. I'm bullish about homburgs."

At the Hat Corporation of America — which makes Knox, Dobbs and Cavanagh hats — they didn't know too much, yet. An executive said, "There's a definite interest in homburgs," but he said the re-orders hadn't started to come in, so they had no idea just how definite this definite interest was.

At the fashionable Witty Brothers store, the man said that there wasn't a silk hat being sold — unless the man is getting married, buried or going to the Smithsonian Institution." He added that the women seem to be egging the men on — "they love it, because they think men look dignified and fashionable in homburgs."

King Edward VII was at a Prussian watering place near Hornburg back around the turn of the Century. The derby was then the thing to wear, but Edward thought a derby too formal for watering-type leisure.

Yet he felt the gay Tyrolean hat, favored by Prussian natives, a touch too gay. So he ordered the royal haberdasher to whip up something half-way between the derby and the Tyrolean hat. Presto, the homburg.

It's probably a good idea he didn't get his brainstorm around Oberammergau. Even President Eisenhower wouldn't be able to do much popularizing a Black Oberammergau.

"The President's choice has stimulated all homburgs — midnight blues as well as blacks, and especially true in Washington just before the Inauguration, when dignitaries were suddenly caught with their silk hats showing.

A dignified gentleman, who manages a dignified men's store on dignified Fifth Avenue, put the whole thing in dignified language.

"You might say," he said, "that

The commission has been holding public meetings to find out what farm people are thinking. At the meetings, the audience is split into five or six discussion groups. W. B. Baker, commission chairman, emphasized at these meetings that the main purpose of the discussions is to get assistance in selecting the key rural problems to be investigated.

Death-Dealing Cobalt Wheeled Into Cave For U. M. Experiments

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Death in a lead cylinder was carefully and successfully wheeled into University of Michigan's new irradiation-proof cave.

It came in the form of 100 rods of cobalt-60, each three-eighths of an inch in diameter and 10 inches long, all encased in a three-ton lead container. Described as the "most powerful experimental radioactive gamma ray source in the world," it arrived here by truck from the Chalk River atomic reactor in Northern Ontario.

Truck and all were stored in a University garage overnight and a special team of University scientists spent two hours coaxing the roller coaster from the truck and moving it carefully into the cave about 150 feet away.

Once in the cave, scientists, standing behind a concrete wall four feet thick and seeing what they did only through mirrors, used extended mechanical arms and hoists to remove the top of the container. Into a 16-foot pit of

Report From Formosa:

Chiang's Troops 'A Bargain' In Strategic World-Wide Planning

CHIANG'S GUNS ON REVIEW: "When the time comes for action, we're going to need a lot of ammunition soonest," says General William Chase, head of U. S. Military Advisory Aid in Formosa.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of the following dispatch, who writes frequently for NEA Service, is an authority on the Far East, where she has lived for many years. She is a personal friend of the top Chinese Nationalist personalities.

By GERALDINE FITCH
TAIPEI, Formosa—(NEA)—The Nationalist troops on Formosa are a bargain in strategic worldwide planning, says General William Chase, head of America's Military Advisory Aid Group here.

In an exclusive interview with NEA Service, he declared:

Formosa is a constant threat to the Reds, actually and psychologically.

It is also a strategic deterrent to any Chinese Communist move toward Indo-China.

"For a few hundred dollars per man per year," he explained, "you can have a first-class fighting force of a half a million men."

Gen. Chase would make no guess as to where Nationalist forces might first be used—in Korea, Indo-China, or for an invasion of the Chinese mainland. His job is to get the 500,000 soldiers ready, and that's no small task. But he was relaxed and affable after five days of strenuous military conferences with his own staff officers and those of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The Chinese navy and air force could lay an effective blockade along the China coast within a matter of hours," Gen. Chase said.

There are strong indications that something of a "bootleg blockade" is probably going on even now. The Chinese Nationalist Navy was quick to reach the sinking merchant ship Avanti off the Red coast and rescue its personnel not long ago. The Chinese Air Force was on its toes when a Chinese Communist tried to hijack a Philippine Air Lines plane this winter.

"There's a high potential here," Gen. Chase told NEA. "How soon this team is ready to play in the big league depends on Washington. When the time comes for action we're going to need a lot of ammunition soonest."

This seemed to echo his statement to 600 Chinese and American officers and newsmen last December when he said: "We have

Michigan Has Milk Surplus

LANSING (AP) — Milk is wonderful stuff.

It helps babies to grow up to become adults and it's good for grownups, too.

But when you have too much of it you have a problem. And that's the problem that's facing Michigan's milk producers today.

Milk surpluses are piling up and in several Michigan cities there already have been cuts in retail milk prices.

Farmers are getting less for their milk. According to the Michigan Milk Producers Association, the drop has been from $5.34 per hundred last year to $4.61 this year.

Production Boosted

G. E. Quackenbush, dairy research authority at Michigan State College, says there are two main reasons for the milk surpluses.

There has been a sharp jump in milk production per cow, particularly in the great dairy region in the north central states. And lower beef prices have caused farmers to hold more cows in their herds instead of culling the low producers.

According to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, milk production per cow has gone up 5.5 per cent in just a year.

A check of the Detroit market in December showed production per farm was up 13 per cent over a year ago.

The McDonald Dairy in Flint reported that producers in that region now have an average of 16 cows per herd compared with 11 cows per herd two years ago.

Margarine Is Factor

This season of the year is generally when lower milk production causes butter, cheese and dried milk to start coming out of storage.

But this year there is more than enough milk to meet the demand.

The sale of colored oleomargarine is another thing that's complicating the milk picture.

As more oleo is sold, less milk is used to make butter and so more whole milk is available.

H. H. Varney of the Michigan Milk Producers Association said that for the first time in history the MPA has found it necessary to make butter this year to take care of milk that can't be sold on the fluid market.

FUTURE FIREMEN MAY USE NOISE TO BLOW OUT BLAZE

By LEONARD RUPPERT

CHICAGO —(NEA)—The fireman of the future won't have to worry about falling off a ladder or tripping over his hose. He won't have to freeze in the winter. Instead, he'll be able to do his work much better than it's done now—and stay in the firehouse, besides.

So says Dale K. Auck, fire prevention expert for the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies and a recognized authority on fire-fighting methods.

Auck believes that the firemen of tomorrow will put out fires by beaming high frequency sound waves at them. The use of water and other present methods will be discarded.

FUTURE FIREMAN: The better agent may be sound waves.

"In a laboratory," he says, "you can bend or diminish the flame of a Bunsen burner by bouncing sound waves against it. There's no reason the same thing couldn't be done with bigger blazes as our knowledge of sound increases."

Auck's fire department of the future would consist of a large self-powered generator. This would have a dish-shaped antenna, similar to a radar search screen. When fire broke out, the fireman would aim the antenna at it, the generator would send out super-sonic frequencies and—poof—that would be that.

Besides the large-scale, or "fire department" models, smaller sound generators might also be developed. These would be installed in buildings just like present-day sprinkler systems.

"We're still using the same old fire extinguishing agent—water—that we've been using for ages," Auck says. "All we've done is to improve its application technique. It's time that we looked for a better agent, and sound waves may be the answer."

Auck, an electrical engineer, doesn't let his forecast of the future end with sound waves. He also predicts such wonders as solar heating and the wireless transmission of power.

If it does come, solar heating will provide new headaches for the safety experts. It will have to be extra-well insulated. But it will also eliminate many present hazards, by doing away with heating units that use combustible materials.

As for power transmission, Auck points out that small amounts of electricity can already be transmitted from one point to another without wires in the laboratory. He foresees the day when power for homes will be received in much the same manner as we now get radio programs.

Auck concedes that his predictions may seem fantastic.

"But it must be noted," he says, "that the rate of technical change is increasing rapidly. Advances that might have taken 100 years to achieve some time ago may now be realities within 25 to 50 years."

The insurance expert says one of the biggest worries in the fire protection field is the large number of new homes being sold in a semi-finished condition. This leaves their completion to the whims of the owner, a dangerous prospect when it comes to the installing of electricity.

"When amateurs install even the best electrical equipment," he explains, "installation standards are ignored, and the home may become unsafe from the fire viewpoint. Insurance companies may just have to get tougher and demand a certified wiring job."

Another problem is the movement of large factories to the suburbs. There is danger, Auck says, that the factories' use of water may diminish the pressure of rural water systems so that fire fighting is impaired over an entire suburb. Besides, fire apparatus adequate for a small community may not be enough to handle a large process fire.

Auck feels that the way to teach fire prevention is to concentrate on children.

"It's only in youth that permanent conceptions of safety can be instilled," he says, "and the fire-safe child of today will be the fire-safe adult of tomorrow."

LONDON LACKS MODERN PLUMBING, BATHROOMS

LONDON (P)—Nearly half the private homes in the County of London—which includes all the central districts of the British capital—are without a bathroom. More than 550,000 of the area's 1,100,000 households share a bathroom with a neighbor, and 16 households in every 100 share a kitchen sink.

These statistics on London's washing facilities are given in the annual report of Dr. J. A. Scott, county medical officer of health. His report says the London population has dropped more than a million in the past 20 years to the present level of 3,348,000. Slum clearance, World War II bomb damage and the fact that more modern houses often are available in the suburbs have all contributed to the exodus from central London, the report states.

"We're still using the same old fire extinguishing agent—water—that we've been using for ages," Auck says. "All we've done is to improve its application technique. It's time that we looked for a better agent, and sound waves may be the answer."

Auck, an electrical engineer, doesn't let his forecast of the future end with sound waves. He also predicts such wonders as solar heating and the wireless transmission of power.

U. N. 'Hospitality' Bill Is Settled

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (P)—Premier Sheikh Abdullah's government and the United Nations have just settled their own little financial problem.

It all started two years ago when Australian purist Sir Owen Dixon and a party of five, including military observer Gen. Courtney R. Hodges, visited Kashmir to help unscramble the Indo-Pakistani argument over Kashmir.

Surprised U. N. officials here got a bill later from the State Guest House for the month-long "official hospitality" extended to the mission. The bill amounted to $1,097.

Sir Owen and four others had stayed 33 days during June and July, 1950. Gen. Hodges had spent only 12 days in Srinagar, touring the Indo-Pakistani ceasefire line the rest of the time.

While the U. N. waged a cold war over the issue, another U. N. mission came and departed. Finally the U. N. office here paid up in late September.

The Azores consist of nine volcanic islands.
